

140 WEST SIDE KIDDIES SEE A SHOW AS GUESTS OF BOY PHILANTHROPIST

Rich Little Sammy Martin Gives Them Party at Hippodrome on His Birthday.

One hundred and forty small boys and girls from the Christ Church House (the youngest seven and the oldest thirteen) saw the performance at the Hippodrome yesterday afternoon as guests of seven-year-old Sammy Martin, the precociously philanthropic son of Samuel K. Martin of No. 636 Fifth Avenue.

Sammy's father is a member of the brokerage firm of Markoe, Morgan & Co., No. 129 Broadway. Through some friends the boy was invited to attend a party at the settlement house recently. He played with the boys and girls of the neighborhood near the house, which is at No. 544 West Thirty-sixth Street, and had a good time.
Sammy usually celebrates his natal day by giving a "swell" party at Sherry's. He reached the mature age of seven, when a boy begins to consider what life means to his fel-

An Easter Week-End Ceremong for McCullough-Matlack Union

Great Neck, L. I., will be the scene to-morrow of an Easter week-end marriage when Miss Isabel Matlack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Matlack of Kensington, L. I., is united in marriage to Gilbert Charles McCullough of New York. The bride is prominent in the Long Island heat set.

lows, on March 27, and decided that this year's party would be to his settlement house friends instead of his Fifth Avenue cronies. His father consented to foot the bills providing it be considered his son's only birthday present. Sammy agreed.
So the 140 saw "Hip Hip Hooray" yesterday afternoon. Miss Helen Parker and Duane R. Dills, the settlement workers in charge of the party, said they didn't think one of the children had ever seen a Hippodrome performance before. Most of them had never been to a theatre.

But poor Sammy! He was a poor little rich boy yesterday. His parents had arranged a visit to Chicago and he had to go along, missing the fun.

RUNAWAY HORSE SAVED FROM THE EAST RIVER

Frightened Animal Breaks Loose
From Wagon in East Seventieth Street and Dashes Into Water.

A horse attached to a Sheffield Milk Company wagon was started on a wild dash through East Seventieth Street, this morning, when another wagon, turning in from First Avenue, struck the wheel of the milk wagon.
Joseph Miesner, the driver, was not in the milk wagon when the runaway started. The horse headed straight for the river and tried to get through a four-foot alley between Reception Hospital and the ferry house of the Blackwell's Island ferry.

The wagon was smashed at the entrance to the alley, but the runaway managed to break from the harness and kept going to the end of the dock and over into the East River. He floundered there for ten minutes before ropes were placed about him.

When the rescuers were debating a method of getting him from the water a sound steamer passed and the swells from the passing boat raised the horse from the water to the ferry gangplank, which had been lowered to the water's edge. The gangplank was raised and the horse saved.

fectives are looking for the boys, the girl suffering fractures and, possibly, a fracture of the skull.
